Since the internet speeds went above the 500kbps mark, the number of things people can do with their interconnected devices skyrocketed. Automated homes, connected cars, and internet enabled

TVs. The latter is what threatens to revolutionize the entertainment world as we know it, do away with cable TV and abolish the need for expensive blue-ray players. Even though smart TVs are so lucrative, most people find them either too costly, or limiting. The alternative would be going for a TV with an HDMI port, a USB port and purchasing a dongle to bring in the power of internet TV. Chromecast is one of the best and cheapest such tools in the market. This book shows you exciting tips and in-depth tutorials you need to know about Apple Tv features and the TvOS-13 user interface. get your Apple TV, and you're looking to get the most out of your streaming media device? Perhaps you're looking for solutions to specific questions you've have been wanted to as someone about the device like how to use AirPlay, how to find channels, or other tips and tricks? Well, this guide is here to help you with all those questions and plenty of excellent illustrations to unleash the power of your Apple TV truly!!!! This manual accompanies a workshop called ThinkTV and is based on the idea that television can be used to develop important literacy & life skills, including critical thinking. ThinkTV workshops are directed at parents and combine strategies from two related fields, critical thinking education and media literacy education. The manual will assist workshop facilitators who have some experience working with adults but who may have little or no background in teaching media literacy or critical thinking. The introduction includes an overview of key concepts of critical thinking, critical viewing, and media literacy. The main section presents instructions for workshop facilitators and workshop activities & schedules for three core ThinkTV workshops and two optional workshops. The core workshops explore why television should be taken seriously, how to understand & manage the ways that learners & their families use television in the home, and how to encourage active viewing and to use television to support school success. The optional workshops cover the language of television (how production techniques affect viewers & contribute to meaning) and the commercial aspect of television (advertising) and how it influences viewers & programs.
